

This is Annmarie, she is at a library and found a very good book about MLK.

Wow this book very good!!

Annmarie is walking back to the apartment.

Later...
She is reading her book.

...MLK stood
for his people...

In Annmarie's dream...

OMG
Wow!

Are you Martin
Luther King Jr,
or Will Smith?

yes

I have so many questions to ask you!

Great! Maybe
we can talk
together!

Yes, of course.

Did you actually
fight for your
people like in the book?

There are a lot of
books about me
you know.

WOW I can not believe how much books
there are about
you!

Cool what happened?

I remember when I saved my friend Ellen before.

My friend Ellen was Jewish and the German soldiers wanted to get her and her family.

WOW, that is amazing! I remember giving a speech for my people once.

I had to be very brave and run through forests and confront soldiers and scay things.

The time is always right to do what is right.

I had to be very brave to give my speech, just as much as you were!

Wow! I guess we both had to be very brave.

Yeah, it kinda is.

It is kinda sorrow that
me and you both have to be brave and grow up,
especially me because I am little.

Don't you think that we both kinda lived during hard times, I lived during a big war, and you had to fight against racism.

Yeah, we overcame them too, I overcame racism and discrimination, and you overcame all the scary things you went through.

You're kinda cool, you know. We also have a lot of things in common too, like how we are both very

You too, also I think it's time for me to go now, I have some more important things to do, goodbye!

Whoa, I just saw MLK!
But it was all a dream
though. That was still a super coo
conversation with Wil- I mean MLK!
